Trust for Public Land - Our organization is a national nonprofit that works to connect everyone to the benefits and joys of the outdoors. (www.tpl.org)

We were founded in 1972 on the conviction that all people need access to nature and the outdoors, close to home, in the cities and communities where they live. We work with communities to create parks and protect public land where they're needed most, as a matter of health, equity, and justice.

From Hawaii's coasts to New England's slopes, our work is changing communities for the better all across the country, in towns big and small. Read more about the impact we're making.

We've protected 3 million acres of land and connected 9 million people to the outdoors, and we're not stopping there. See what's possible for the future with help from supporters like you.

We believe everyone should have access to the outdoors. We create parks and protect land for people, ensuring healthy, livable communities for generations to come.

The outdoors are essential to our happiness, health and well-being. Quality parks and green spaces are fundamental for sustaining equitable, resilient communities. Access to nature and the outdoors – close to home, in the cities and communities where people live – is a matter of health, equity and justice. That's why we work alongside communities across the country to create, protect and steward the nature-rich places that are vital to human well-being. We're driven by four commitments: equity, health, climate and community.
