This is a letter of recommendation for Gerry Cottle and the Rooftop Cinema Club. We have partnered with Rooftop Cinema Club over the last two seasons with immense success. Sold out screenings have become a much loved and staple part of the Skylawn Rooftop Bar at Embassy by Hilton.

The experience with Rooftop Cinema Club starts the moment the guests step outside. They know what the customer wants and have great attention to detail with their production, social highlights and movie-watching experience.

Something that was very important to us was the impact to our hotel guests and neighbors. This has never been an issue. They are very respectful of both our hotel guests and neighbors by making sure that all noise restrictions are adhered to and that their operation compliments the many different areas of the business.

Being in a dense residential area, we are always mindful of any events that take place on our space. Thankfully, RCC have been an excellent partner with their film centric events that are complimented with amazing service, food and beverages.

They focus on the quality of their production and with headphones for the sound it means that there are zero disturbances for our surrounding residents and neighbors. Quite frankly, I would question if there is a safer and more respectful event that could take place on an open-air space or rooftop.

To whom it may concern,

I am writing in support of The Rooftop Cinema Club's proposal for Drive-In Cinema.

At the British Consulate-General in Los Angeles, we promote trade and investment between the UK and Los Angeles. Based in London, the Rooftop Cinema Club is a well-established British-owned and operated business, with a ten-year track record of running cinema clubs adding revenue streams to under-used venue spaces in urban areas. Our team has worked to support Rooftop Cinema Club's expansion to over 50 venues globally, including in the United States, Los Angeles, Houston and San Diego. The company has been sponsored by and worked with influential brands such as British Airways, Visa, Grey Goose, Samsung, Nespresso, Spotify and BAFTA.

Rooftop Cinema Club is now reimagining the drive-in movie theatre concept, in order to bring people together safely in an age of social distancing with a contact-free, out-of-the-home cinema experience to life. Rooftop Cinema Club has expressed a commitment to adhere to and respect all health and safety recommendations by the CDC and local authorities, at a federal, state or city level. Because Rooftop Cinema Club will rely on existing spaces like parking lots, their hope is to regenerate revenue opportunities for spaces that, even after the 'safer at home' policies are relaxed, may well remain under-utilised.

I have no doubt that Rooftop's Drive in Cinema will be a great addition to the community, supporting recovery and preserving the movie-going experience at a time when social distancing poses a challenge to its future.

Sincerely,

Her Majesty's Consul General (Acting)
