The Concept:

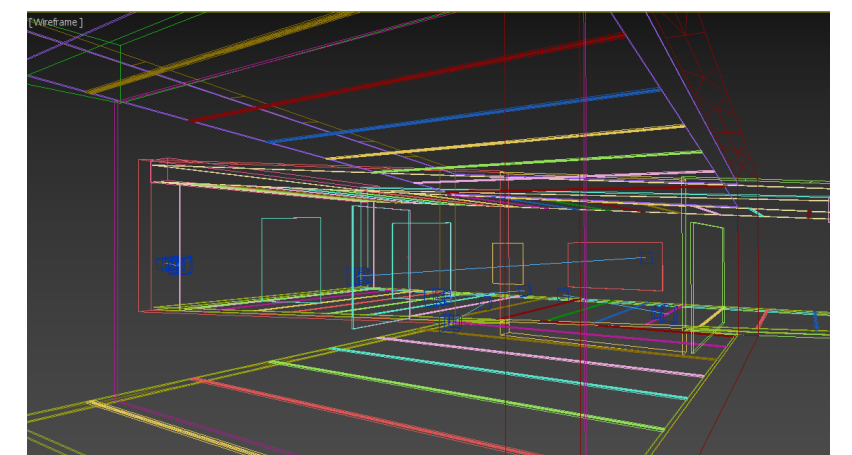

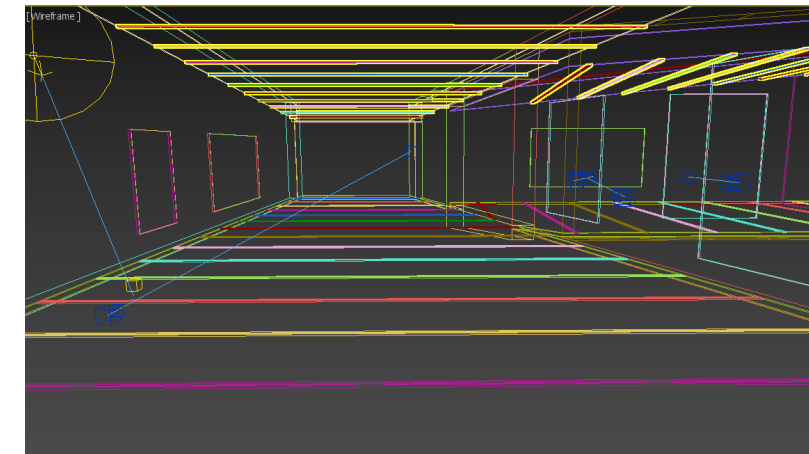

Concept:

Tile Blush, in collaboration with Office GA, created a series of virtual Art shows for Crescent Heights at 1212 Lincoln Road. Highlighting established and emerging artists in cinematic animations, the series of shorts give agency to artists in a time of necessary isolation. Each piece has been designed by Office GA, working hand-in-hand with the artists to give high-level exposure, while realizing works put on hold by our current world. These experimental videos offer a real-world presentation of their work in a new, heightened virtual domain on the previously approved video wall at 1212 Lincoln Road. Each scene not only evidences their incredible work, but also engages with experimental “art spaces”, custom-tailored to each artists’ vision. The “work” is both cinematic and content-driven.

These surreal landscapes offer viewers the opportunity to witness never before seen artworks... As never before achieved in Contemporary Art.

The City of Miami Beach plays a key ally, and innovator, in offering an opportunity to these incredible individuals as we navigate these unprecedented times, while affording residents and visitors alike continuous exposure to the imagery and beauty of Art in the public domain.

SHORT FILMS - Each artist project will exist as an animated short film that will run one after the other on the video LED screen at 1212 Lincoln Road discussed in this presentation. The work presented here for each artist are still images from full length short films. Each presentation will run from approximately 30-240 seconds. The images on this page and the following are screen captures from the 3d animated film shorts.

All works will in this project will be movie picture animations.

Leo Castaneda

Miami

PROFILE:

Leo Castañeda (b. Cali, Colombia 1988) is an experimental game designer and multi-media artist living in Miami, FL. Fusing gaming, painting, virtual reality, drawing, and interactive sculpture, Castañeda's work probes how the language and structures of video games intersect with the world at large. Through open mythologies built across feedback loops between analog and digital, Castañeda's work reimagines the corporeal, ecological, and socio-political anatomies that govern our cultural operating systems.

Castañeda received his BFA from Cooper Union in 2010 and MFA at Hunter College in 2014.

Residencies include SOMA Mexico City (2014); "Of Games III" at Khoj International in New Delhi India (2015); Bronx Museum AIM Fellowship (2017), and Oolite Arts Studio Residency (2018–2019). In 2019 the Wolfsonian-FIU Museum commissioned Castañeda to create a video animation. He is also a recipient of South Florida Cultural Consortium Visual/Media Artists Fellowship, Locust Projects Wavemaker Grant, and Oolite Arts Ellies Creator Award. After two years as a professor of 3-D animation at Florida International University, Castañeda currently teaches 3-D animation at New World School of the Arts.

Brian Rideout

Toronto

PROFILE:

Brian Rideout makes pictures about pictures. His work investigates contemporary images, sourced from print and online, for their art historical relevance, as a continuation of the history of painting and image production. Rideout's works comprise a narrative of art, architecture, and object following an undulating cycle of definition, utility, and design, softly dramatizing the multiple registers that art has come to occupy and employ over time as a material thing wholly existing in the world.

He is interested in art as document, as decoration, as ideological accessory, as technological or functional support.

Germane Barnes

Miami

PROFILE:

Born in Chicago, IL Germane Barnes received a Bachelor's of Science in Architecture from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign and a Master of Architecture from Woodbury University where he was awarded the Thesis Prize for his project Symbiotic Territories: Architectural Investigations of Race, Identity, and Community. Barnes' research and design practice investigates the connection between architecture and identity. Learning from historical data and perspectives from within architecture as well as cultural and ethnic studies, he examines how the built environment influences the social and cultural experience.

He has previously taught graduate seminars, and workshops at Woodbury University. He is also the designer in residence for the Opa Locka Community Development Corporation where his design and research contributions have been published and exhibited in several international publications and institutions. Most notably, Curbed.com, where he was named a member of the 2015 Class of Young Guns, under-the-radar professionals who are busy challenging the status quo in the design industry.

Nicolas Buffe

Tokyo

PROFILE:

Nicolas Buffe, a French artist based in Tokyo, is the creator behind a multifaceted, interdisciplinary world combining erudite and popular culture.

Born in 1978, he belongs to a generation naturally marked by Japanese culture, developing from childhood a passion for cartoons, manga and video games. These references were supplemented throughout the course of his studies by classic works of the Middle Ages and the Renaissance, such as The Romance of the Rose and The Dream of Poliphilus. This blending of narrative and visual influences is omnipresent in his work, which is based on the humanistic notion of «serio ludere» or «playing seriously».

His work has been presented in France and internationally through exhibitions and outstanding installations, such as in La Maison Rouge (2007, Le Vestibule), Tokyo Contemporary art museum (2008), MAD Paris (2010, Circuit Céramique), Hara Museum of contemporary art de Tokyo (2014, soloshow), Théâtre du Châtelet – Paris and Nijō Castle – Kyoto (Nuit Blanche 2016), French May at Hong Kong City Hall, and K11 Hong Kong (2017 soloshows), Sèvres : 300 Creative years (2017-2018, Suntory Museum – Tokyo and Osaka, Hagi, Shizuoka). Roppongi Art Night (2018, Tokyo) and Magiques Licornes at Musée de Cluny – Paris (2018-19). Over the winter of 2018-2019, he set up a monumental installation inside Ginza Six in Tokyo.

Frida Escobedo

Mexico City

PROFILE:

Since founding her eponymous practice in 2006, Frida Escobedo has developed a distinctive approach driven by the conviction that architecture and design represent, above all, a crucial means to interrogate and comment on social, economic, and political phenomena. In this formulation, art, both contemporary and historical, serves as an indispensable touchstone. Defying the traditional boundaries of the architectural discipline, the studio's creative output operates at a wide array of scales and mediums, encompassing buildings and experimental preservation projects, temporary installations and public sculpture, limited edition objects, publications and exhibition designs. Informed by an unmistakable material sensibility and intuitive feeling for pattern, Escobedo's work is at once unmistakably architectural, and yet frequently blurs the boundary between architecture and art.

Harry Nuriev

Moscow

PROFILE:

Crosby studios' creative practice spans a broad range of typologies, including public spaces, private residences, retail stores, product design, and fashion and art collaborations, often through the lens of radical design, informed by the aesthetics of contemporary consumer culture. In 2017, nuriev held his first museum solo exhibition at dallas contemporary, and has since collaborated with contemporary artist liam gillick and architect rem koolhaas's oma, crafted a limited edition home goods collection and pop-up installation for opening ceremony, and joined forces with nike to create a furniture collection for the launch of the new air max 720 sneaker.

For design miami/ in december of 2019, nuriev received critical acclaim for the balenciaga sofa, a conceptual, sustainable furniture installation designed by the artist in collaboration with balenciaga. His recent work has shifted to creating digital spaces including the digital room nuriev created for issue 28 of hypebeast magazine and a recent digital collaboration with nike to celebrate air max day 2020.

Deon Rubi

Miami

PROFILE:

Lucila Garcia de Onrubia aka Deon Rubi lives between Buenos Aires, Argentina and Miami, FL. Her work centers around art and design, focusing on furniture, sculpture, and including public art projects, collaborations, site-specific work, and clothing. Her aesthetic is minimalist, choosing simple constructions that reference past and look at future. Her design philosophy is the path of least resistance.
