STAFF ANALYSIS:
DESIGN REVIEW

Maurice Gibb Memorial Park, formerly known as Island View Park, is located in the western portion of the Sunset Harbor neighborhood at the northwest corner of Purdy Avenue and Dade Boulevard/Venetian Causeway. The 3.42 acre site was initially developed as industrial boat yards, with its southernmost portion serving as a gas station. Operating as such for several decades the site was eventually abandoned and sold to the City of Miami Beach. By the mid-1980's, the City developed the waterfront site into a park with a Marine/Fire Patrol Facility and boat ramps at the northern end.

In May of 2019 and again in May of 2022, the Board approved substantial renovations and improvements to the park. These improvements will be located immediately to the south of the proposed new Marine Patrol facility, which is the subject of this application. The current facility is used by the Police Department Marine Patrol Unit, and the expanded facility will also house the Fire Department Marine Patrol Unit.

On April 4, 2023, this application was reviewed by the Board and continued due to concerns expressed with the overall design. The design for the facility has been substantially revised as directed by the Board. The first level of the structure contains the publicly accessible restrooms, Parks Dept. office, and Marine Patrol lobby, all accessed from an elevated terrace facing the park. A winding 1:20 ramp on the east side of the terrace as well as two separate stairs on the south side of the terrace, allow access from the park. The a/c equipment is also fully screened on the roof, and the generator has been fully enclosed as part of the building at the first level.

The architect has modified the elevations with additional materials and details that are inspired by the architectural history of Miami Beach. Predominately finished in smooth stucco finish, the various volumes that comprise the building have been enhanced with concrete eyebrows above the windows at each floor, recessed walls clad with stone veneer, cable railings along the rooftop parapets, concrete breezeblocks within the ground floor openings, concrete rib block applied to expansive stucco wall planes, and vertical metal fins on the stair tower that screen the open staircase beyond. Staff finds that the design modifications enhance the assemblage of rectilinear building volumes by providing architectural interest, texture, and movement. As such, staff is very supportive of the design and recommends approval of the application.

RECOMMENDATION:

In view of the foregoing analysis, staff recommends the application be approved, subject to the conditions enumerated in the attached Draft Order, which address the inconsistencies with the aforementioned Design Review and Sea Level Rise criteria.
