Subject: Prairie avenue and Beach High

Hi Kristen. Thanks for taking this on 😊

I have a very important question for everyone who lives on Miami Beach and has a child who attends Miami Beach Senior High. Can someone/anyone please tell me why Prairie Avenue leading all the way up to the school from the north has been narrowed down to a sliver of road barely wide enough for two lanes of traffic??

Prairie Avenue is a hot mess. There are NO painted street lines, there is NO bike lane, the asphalt is chopped up like a country dirt road, there is NO sidewalk for our children to walk on as they approach the school, MAJOR construction is going on EVERYDAY exactly at pick up time to make it a DISASTER to try to get to the school. And if all that isn't that enough, there are ZERO flashing school zone lights on Prairie Avenue as you approach the school. As we all know school starts insanely early in the morning and many kids have to walk and ride bikes in the dark, there have been numerous instances where kids are walking on this sliver of the street in the dark and can't be seen and have come incredibly close to being rundown. This is a potentially disastrous situation. Why has this been allowed to happen???

Prairie avenue barely exists on the stretch south of 41st street leading to the ONLY high school on the Beach.

Thank you.
